

SHELBY ODEN HUNTER, the driver of this 1966 Ford delivery truck, was painfully injured when the vehicle left the highway about three miles south of Sedalia on Highway 65

Injured In Truck Accident

A large 1966 Ford delivery truck of Whitaker and Co., Main and Massachusetts, was demolished and its driver, Shelby Oden Hunter, 50, 624 East 14th Street, was painfully injured, in a one vehicle accident about three miles south of Sedalia on U.S. Highway 65 about 6:08 p.m. Thursday.

Hunter, according to Trooper Pete Stohr of the State Highway Patrol, was headed north on Highway 65. Hunter, Trooper Stohr reported, said he started to pass a car when he noted the yellow warning stripe on the highway, started to pull back and applied his brakes. The brakes apparently locked and the truck swerved to the left. The truck bounced across the driveway to the farm home of Wayne Hutcheson; across the lawn striking a utility pole knocking a section approximately five feet long out of the pole, then swerved sideways and rolled over on its top.

When the truck hit the utility pole it jerked loose the connection of electric wiring to several farm residents on the west side of the highway from a transformer on the electric high line of the Missouri Public Service Co., located on the east side of the highway. Some damage was also reported to telephone wires also on the pole.

Many cases of beer, both full bottles and empties, were thrown from the truck and broken.

Hunter at first declined to go to the hospital but later was taken to the Bothwell hospital in the Ewing ambulance where Dr. T. J. Hopkins rendered medical treatment for bruises and abrasions. He suffered some slight cuts on his left arm and complained of an injury to the left shoulder. After an examination he was released.

Parks wrecker righted the truck and towed it to Sedalia.

Severe Storm In Kansas

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Severe thunderstorms with heavy rains and extremely high winds swept cross eastern and central Kansas during the night blowing over trucks and trailers, snapping power lines and tree limbs and mashing windows.

Salina police attributed 13 injuries to the storm.

Forbes Air Force Base near Topeka recorded winds of up to 60 miles per hour. Hail one-half inch in diameter was reported just east of the base and the fire chief at Carbondale said strong winds and heavy rain and light hail struck that community.

Two semi-trailer trucks and one van were overturned by high winds on the Kansas Turnpike about one mile south of the Matfield Green service area. Only minor injuries were reported an traffic was not halted.

Radio communications between the Miami County sheriff's office and the Paola city police were disrupted. A police spokesman said streets in Paola were hazardous because of downed power lines and trees.

Six of the 13 persons injured in the Salina area were members of a Missouri family. Charles D. Stussy, 24, of Independence, was admitted to the hospital with unknown injuries.

The Weather

Solution To Trash Dumping

A dumping spot at the city garage on east Third was offered as a possible solution to the current controversy over whether or not independent trash haulers can use the new city land fill, northeast of Beaman.

The suggestion was made Thursday night at a meeting of city council members at the office of Mayor Ralph Walker.

Friday morning Walker said the plan, as proposed, would call for the city to purchase a 25-yard packer truck, which would be parked at the city garage.

Independent haulers would take their loads to the city garage and load into the new packer truck. The packer unit which compresses trash, would probably make two runs to the city land-fill each day, Walker said.

Under a recently-enacted ordinance, independent haulers will not be able to use the new landfill. Walker said that private citizens could also use the packer vehicle loading method at the city garage.

The plan is tentative, Walker said, but is being given serious consideration since all other proposals would mean larger expenditures by the city.

Walker said a small fee would be charged, similar to the one at the old city dump, if the plan is adopted. The cost would help defray expenses of the new unit and the driver needed for it.

Second Big Quake Hits In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's army marshaled a fleet of helicopters today to fly supplies to sufferers from Turkey's second major earthquake in five days. The quake hit Wednesday night, and new tremors shattered across the country late Thursday as the death toll mounted.

Officials said at least 110 persons were killed when the quake Wednesday wracked the desolate eastern district of Pulmur. But many of the district's 70 villages had not yet been heard from.

The quake was felt from the Black Sea on the north to the borders of Syria and Iraq on the south.

Sparingly settled and sandwiched between two forbidding mountain ranges, Pulmur is about 480 miles from the western Turkish city of Adapazari, the hardest hit by a quake which killed nearly 100 persons Saturday.

The second quake centered about 35 miles from the city of Erzincan, which was ravaged by an earthquake that killed an estimated 23,000 persons in 1939.

In Riot Study

Johnson Will Meet With Racial Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will meet Saturday with his newly-created advisory commission assigned to search for causes of race rioting, and to find ways to avoid urban blowups in the future.

The White House said today Johnson will meet with the 11-member commission in the Cabinet room at 11:30 a.m. EDT. In advance of the White House announcement Sen. Fred Harris D-Okla., a member of the commission, reported he had received notice of the session.

Harris commented that "the President made an excellent and forceful address" when he spoke to the nation Thursday night on the situation.

"I agree with him that, first, lawlessness and violence cannot be tolerated or condoned in our society," Harris said. The senator added that he also agreed with Johnson that "despite these tragic riots, we must work with urgency to make equality of opportunity real for all Americans."

Harris said the President had given the commission "a difficult job which must be done."

The Special Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders includes leaders of government, labor, business, law enforcement and civil rights. Members are: —Chairman Otto Kerner, 58, a Democrat and an attorney elected Illinois governor in 1961.

—Vice Chairman John V. Lindsey, 45, a Republican and an attorney elected mayor of New York City in 1966.

—Fred R. Harris, 36, an Oklahoma Democrat elected to the U.S. Senate in 1964 after serving 10 years in the State Senate. He is an attorney.

—Edward W. Brooke, 47, a

Massachusetts Republican who became last year the first popularly elected Negro member of the Senate after serving four years as state attorney general. —William M. McCulloch, 60, an Ohio Republican elected to the house in 1947.

James C. Corman, 46, a California Democrat elected to the House in 1960 after previous experience in private law practice and as a member of the Los Angeles City Council.

—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People since 1965 and an official of the organization since 1931.

—I.W. Abel, 58, president of the AFL-CIO United Steel Workers since 1965.

—Charles B. Thornton, 52, chairman of the board and president since 1953 of Litton Industries, Inc.

Katherine Graham Peden, 39, a former radio station official and now Kentucky commissioner of commerce.

—Herbert Jenkins, 60, who joined the Atlanta, Ga., Police Department in 1931 and became its chief in 1947.

Asks Day of Prayer

Riot Commission Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, proclaiming this Sunday a national day of prayer for racial peace, has created an 11-member commission to search out causes of race rioting—and to suggest ways to avoid it in the future.

Johnson, center of a political storm touched off by pillage, arson and murder in Detroit, gave his views on mounting racial violence in a television-radio address from his White House office Thursday night.

Speaking deliberately and emphasizing his points, he said what happened in Detroit was not part of any civil rights protest.

He said: "This is crime—and crime must be dealt with forcefully, swiftly, certainly—under law. The criminals who committed these acts of violence against the people deserve to be punished. . . . The violence must be stopped: quickly, finally and permanently."

Johnson announced that to bolster the nation's law enforcement for this effort, all National Guard units will be given intensified riot control training.

The chief executive, formally proclaiming Sunday a day of prayer, urged "citizens in every town and in every city and in every home in the land to go into their churches—pray for order and reconciliation among men."

Johnson began his carefully rehearsed address by saying, "We have endured a week such as no nation should live through; a time of violence and tragedy."

Then he announced appointment of a special Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders to investigate origins of urban riots and recommend solutions to the White House, Congress, state governors and mayors.

Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois will be chairman. Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York will be vice chairman.

"In their work," Johnson said, "the commission members will have access to the facts gathered by Director J. Edgar Hoover and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI will continue to exercise its full authority to investigate these riots, in accordance with my standing instructions, and to continue to search for evidence of conspiracy."

He gave no opinion on whether a conspiracy has been involved.

Officials said earlier this week the FBI has not independently investigated riots. An FBI official said the bureau would have no immediate comment on Johnson's remark.

Johnson, blamed for the riots by the Republican Coordinating Committee, hit back at GOP Congress members who have opposed his social legislation—legislation he said would help root out "the conditions that breed despair and violence."

Citing last week's vote by a largely Republican House majority to kill a 20-million plan to eradicate rats that prey on slum children, Johnson said: "A

Civil Disorder Abates Across Nation Today

Detroit Mayor In Sniper Crossfire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Civil disorder throughout the nation abated in intensity today, but Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, touring his strife-torn city, was caught in crossfire as snipers and police and National Guardsmen exchanged shots.

The mayor was unhurt and apparently calm from the only incident of significance during the quietest night since last Sunday. The Detroit death toll went to 39—four more than perished in the Watts area of Los Angeles in 1965.

Applaud Johnson Actions

WASHINGTON (AP)—While Congress applauded President Johnson's creation of a federal riot investigating committee, there were indications today its own initial legislative response to the nation's rash of disorders could come next week.

Johnson's anticrime bill was put in position for House consideration next week and could become the vehicle for amendments aimed at riot-causing conditions.

Though praising the blue-ribbon riot commission, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he didn't think it would end pressures on Capitol Hill for a separate congressional probe of big-city riots.

One senator who flew to the Detroit riot area Wednesday, Republican Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, said here Johnson's appointment does not eliminate the need for a congressional investigation.

Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he hoped the commission would "move with real dispatch." He said Johnson "has picked pretty good people."

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford endorsed Johnson's objectives and said the commission "must review the impact of recent judicial decisions in handicapping law enforcement and the immediate need for legislative action to penalize professional agitators who have aroused a hoodlum element in many of these affected communities."

The Senate and House planned to move forward with a batch of riot-related plans ranging from relief measures for heavily damaged cities to probes of possibly subversive influences in the uprisings.

President Johnson proclaimed this Sunday a national day of prayer for racial peace.

The President, addressing the nation on television and radio Thursday night, named an 11-member commission to search out the causes of the summer rioting and suggest ways to avoid it in the future.

"We have endured a week such as no nation should live through; a time of violence and tragedy," Johnson said. "The violence must be stopped: quickly, finally and permanently."

Henceforth all National Guard units will be given intensified riot control training, he said, to better enable them to deal with the outbreaks.

Johnson also took the occasion to hit back at GOP critics who have blamed him for the rioting, citing the defeat of the anti-riot bill last week by a largely Republican House majority vote.

Saying the legislation would have helped root out "conditions that breed despair and violence," he noted: "A government that has spent millions to protect baby calves from worms can surely afford to show the same concern for baby boys and girls."

Gangs of young Negroes ramaged through the business districts of Albany, Poughkeepsie and Peekskill, N. Y. Thursday night, smashing windows and taunting passersby, but the outbreaks were of relatively short duration.

National Guardsmen were brought into Lorain, Ohio, early today as a precautionary measure while other troops remained on the alert in Toledo. Guardsmen also stood watch in South Bend, Ind., and Cambridge, Md.

Police in Waterbury, Conn., sue small pressurized cans of tear gas to help rout groups of rock-throwing and looting Negroes on the city's North End early today. At least one Negro was reported shot and 15 were arrested.

curb disorder only "in extraordinary circumstances where local authorities have stated that they cannot maintain order with their own resources." Departing from his text, he said in that case reliance must fall upon "federal authority that we have limited authority to use."

Michigan Gov. George Romney, who would like to be Johnson's Republican challenger in 1968, joined Detroit's Democratic mayor, Jerome P. Cavanagh, in asking the President Thursday to declare the city a disaster area eligible for special federal aid.

Johnson responded hours before his speech that emergency drugs, hospital equipment and some food would be made available. He did not mention the request for the disaster designation—for which there is no precedent in a riot situation. But press secretary George Christian said the matter was under study.

In his speech, the President emphasized there would be no rewards or salutes for the Detroit rioters—perhaps indicating that those who burned their neighborhoods can expect no federal help in rebuilding.

Yet, at another point, he said: "Let us condemn the violent few. But let us remember that it is law-abiding Negro families who have suffered most at the hands of the rioters."

MISS UNITED FUND—Miss Maggie Shoe, 1220 West Fourth, was named "Miss United Fund" for 1967 by the Sedalia-Pettis County UF board of directors at a meeting Friday. She will appear in a series of UF public relations activities to be kicked off with a downtown parade Sept. 30. She is a Smith-Cotton High School senior.

Seek Red Mortars

US Marines Enter DM Zone Second Time

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Marines invaded the southern half of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam today for the second time in the war. Their targets were the North Vietnamese motor and artillery positions which have been shelling Leatherneck posts just south of the zone.

The U.S. Command also announced another dogfight over North Vietnam with a MIG21 probably shot down and seven U.S. plane losses over the North which had not been revealed before.

Men of the 9th Marine Regiment moved into the demilitarized zone before dawn just north of Con Thien, the Leatherneck outpost 10 miles from the South China Sea where a Red barrage killed 2 Marines and wounded 12 Thursday night.

There was no immediate report that the Marines had encountered any enemy opposition.

It was the first American penetration into the three-mile-wide southern half of the zone since May 31. The Marines and South Vietnamese troops had invaded the southern sector for the first time on May 18 to root out

North Vietnamese gun posts. The allied force withdrew after 13 days.

U.S. Command said since then the Communists have again begun digging in artillery and mortars.

The latest dogfight took place Thursday when a pair of MIG21s tried to jump an Air Force reconnaissance flight north of Hanoi but were attacked by a pair of Air Force Phantoms flying escort.

The MIG's dived with the Phantoms in pursuit and one Phantom pilot fired a Sidewinder missile. The missile was right on the MIG's tail when the Red disappeared into a cloudbank, the pilots said. The Air Force scored it as the 11th probable MIG kill of the war.

The plane losses announced today brought the total number U.S. combat planes reported lost over the north to 624. The rate of losses over the north is now running at slightly more than one plane daily.

Cites War For Foreign Aid Slash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Vietnam war and domestic rioting are cited in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for its sharp cutback in President Johnson's foreign aid proposals.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright said he and other members who voted to cut 736.8 million from the measure feared domestic programs some aimed at quelling riot-inducing conditions—were suffering because of Vietnam and other U.S. commitments overseas.

The President asked 3.46 billion in foreign aid authorizations for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The 20 per cent committee reduction includes 205 million cut from the military aid section, which Johnson set at 596 million.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who led the move to cut back the arms program, said the changes could lead to a cutoff of U.S. military aid in programs and countries where "it ought not to have been started in the first place."

A parade of administration spokesmen, led by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary on Defense Robert S. McNamara, appeared before the committee this week to plead for approval of the program as submitted by the President.

The committee completed action Thursday. Fulbright reported developments at a news conference. Actual appropriation of foreign aid money is considered after authorizations are set.

Fulbright, a persistent critic of administration foreign policy, said he would not manage the bill on the floor, an assignment ordinarily handled by a committee chairman, and added: "I think I'll vote against it."

'Guards' En Route To Camp

Missouri Army National Guardsmen were up early Friday morning as they formed and departed from armories throughout the state for their annual summer field training at Camp Ripley, Minn.

The two Sedalia units are part of the giant movement of troops to the Minnesota encampment.

C Battery, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery, left at 6:30 They'll stay at Albia, Iowa, and New Ulm, Minn.; Iowa, and New Ulm, Minn., on their way to Camp Ripley.

Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 135th Artillery Group, left at 7:30 from the local armory. They will stay overnight at Camp Dodge, near Des Moines; Iowa, and at Litchfield, Minn.

Most all units will leave for their field sites soon after arrival, sleeping in small two-man tents for four nights before returning to the main cantonment area.

The usual Governors Review during the middle weekend plus the awarding of various individual and unit citations is slated. The troops leave Camp Ripley Aug. 11 for the return trip to Missouri. They'll arrive Sunday morning, Aug. 13th, and after a complete unloading operation the troops will be dismissed.

On Aug. 14th, one of the units will hold a regular four-hour drill at the armory. However, most of the drills are now held on Saturday and Sunday.

ONE HOUR CHRISTIANS

Are you one of those who attend church on a regular basis? Do you believe that you should be in the Lord's house every Lord's day morning? Then, do you believe that you are through with the Lord until the next Lord's day? If so you are a one hour Christian. God has made it very plain in His word that He must have first place in our life every day of the week. We can fool a lot of people, but no one can fool God. If you are a one hour Christian, why not decide right now to change, and become a real Christian.

Student Gets Pool For Negroes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— A 21-year-old white student at San Francisco State College has brought the Hunters Point-Bayview Negro area its first swimming pool.

Pat Bell said the city Parks and Recreation Dept. told him a pool was not worthwhile because of cool weather and lack of bathing suits. But he persisted and got backing from police, civic and business groups and others.

The results: $5,500 in cash, $1,500 in pledges and an order for a new portable swimming pool 25 by 50 feet long with a heater.

It'll be legally owned by Youth for Service, with two other neighborhood groups sharing management.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Tourism

"What this state needs is a professional approach to Missouri's tourism promotion," Will Davis, press secretary to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, told Sedalia Kiwanians meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

Davis, a former Sedalian, was introduced by Program Chairman P.Cecil Owen. He agreed that although it is worthwhile to promote out-of-state tourist traffic, there is even greater potential to encourage Missourians to travel in their own state, which has more to offer in the way of attractions than any other state.

The speaker is personally interested in tourism and worked diligently to have the legislature pass a bill creating a nine-member commission to be known as the Missouri State Tourism Commission.

Invocation was by Robert Fritz. Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with the Rev. Clifford R. Saunders, accompanist. Birthday greetings were extended to Robert Horton.

Guests were: Mayor Ralph Walker, William Hall, Wilbert Askew and John Owen with the latter's father, Mr. Owen; Lloyd Farris with Leo J. Harnd; Kiwanian Ted Brown; Jefferson City; Glenn Dosser; Lawton, Okla., with Dr. D. R. Edwards; and Douglas A. Keeler with his father, Henry Keeler.

Chuck Halliday, zone manager for Motorola, Springfield, Mo., will be the speaker next week on the topic of short wave radio. Herb Taylor will be program chairman.

Comments On Race Rioting

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A judge and a mayor, participating in the 69th annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, made comments on the current race riots.

Robert Hansen, chief of the county board of judges and judge-elect of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, said the violence of rioting seems to hold the seeds of its own solution.

Judge Hansen said law and order came to the West because the people found anarchy intolerable. He said in a way the situation is reassuring, because historically "the rustlers always lose and the settlers always win."

Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco, who received the lodge's annual award as the nation's outstanding mayor, said racial problem is the biggest threat the country faces.

"We cannot solve overnight 300 years of treatment given to the Negro. Violence will not solve the problem either," he said.

Shelley pointed to housing and unemployment as problems the federal government should attack.

Two show business personalities were at the convention Thursday night to receive two checks, each for 25,000, for medical research.

Jim Backus accepted one check on behalf of the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund. Sid Caesar accepted the other, from the Max Baer Heart Fund for the City of Hope Hospital at Duarte, Calif.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki D-Wis., received the Eagles' World Freedom Award. Addressing a dinner meeting, Zablocki said Communist China is the most perplexing problem facing U.S. foreign relations.

Johnny Wesimuller, once a world-class swimmer and a former Tarzan, was inducted into the hall of fame for his leg and arm and possible internal injuries.

Dies After Falling From Catwalk

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)— A 15-year-old girl died in a Lawrence hospital Thursday after falling 64 feet from a catwalk to the floor of Hoch Auditorium at the University of Kansas.

Lorraine Kelvin of Clayton, Mo., and another student at the university's 30th annual Midwestern Music and Art Camp, had been walking along the catwalk between the roof and ceiling of the auditorium.

Miss Kelvin apparently blacked out in the 120-degree heat and plunged through the ceiling to the floor of the old basketball court. An unidentified person found her on the floor and notified the authorities.

Family Harassed For Help

DETROIT (AP)— A white family of "good samaritans" who took a Negro family into their home after they were displaced by the Detroit riots has become the object of threatening phone calls.

"I never expected that," said a white housewife who told of the calls as she squinted into the brilliant late afternoon sun on the porch of her neat red brick house looking over a well-trimmed green lawn.

The white family was one of many who had opened their door to refugees of the costliest riot the United States had seen in recent history.

"It made me said—very sad," said the woman. "I thought we could set an example."

A Negro woman on welfare and her four children had arrived Wednesday—and decided to leave Thursday.

"She didn't leave because of the threats," the white woman said. "They didn't start coming until after the family had decided to leave."

The woman and her husband, who works as a plant manager for a large public utility and is acting chairman of his church's human relations committee, have five grown children of their own, two of whom still live in the house on a quiet, tree-lined street on the far Northwest Side.

They asked to remain anonymous because of the threatening calls they have received.

Thursday the woman frowned as she said: "What puzzles me is how anxious the children were to leave. How happy they were when their mother said she had to get back into the city."

"I guess they just weren't comfortable," she shrugged.

"Oh, I could understand the mother's point of view. She said she had to get back to the city soon or she would be last on the list to get any benefits which she so desperately needed."

There was no indication of how many displaced Negro families chose to move into houses in all-white areas. Most preferred to move in with friends within the severely devastated areas of the city, the Human Resources Committee spokesman said.

And police across the Detroit River in Canada said thousands of refugees showed up in Windsor as border restrictions were eased.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is presently serving in Vietnam. I have always trusted him implicitly and am confident that under normal conditions he would never stray. But now I wonder. Is it too much to expect that a healthy, virile, young husband will remain faithful while fighting in a combat zone?

I have heard that men who must face danger every day of their lives soon get to thinking, "Why not live it up? Tomorrow I might not be here."

When a fighting man returns, should his wife ask him if he has been faithful? What if he says "no"? And what if she doesn't ask him and he confesses to rid himself of the guilt? What should her attitude be? — MYRTLE BEACH

Dear Myrtle: You can't lump all men together (service or otherwise) and state flatly that they will all react the same way under any given set of circumstances. Some husbands remain faithful even though they are separated from their wives for years. Others go catting around when their wives check into the hospital for five days to have a baby.

A wife should not ask a husband if he has been faithful. If he confesses to an indiscretion she should listen, forgive him and never bring the matter up again.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine who is also 17 has a brother who is semi-retarded. He is 23, nice looking and can carry on a fairly good conversation. According to his sister he has the mentality of a 14-year-old.

My friend takes her brother to meetings where teen-agers gather, and to some social events. I feel uncomfortable around this boy because he really doesn't fit into the group. Everyone is pleasant to him (I am, too, of course) but somehow I think his sister is not doing right by him because one of these days he is going to be in for a big disappointment.

What is your opinion? — R. I. MISS

Dear Miss: The boy's sister sounds like a fine girl and deserves praise, not criticism. Many retarded people progress beautifully when they are encouraged to move around socially. It gives them confidence and adds enormously to their general welfare and outlook. I hope you and the others will continue to treat this young man as you would anyone else.

New Film Idol Is A Czech

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
LONDON (AP) — The cheekbones are high, the hair blonde and unruly, the shoulders wide, and the bust ample—37 inches by the studio's claim, 36 by her own account.

She has all the attributes for being the season's sex symbol, and the European picture magazines are reacting accordingly. They have been featuring photographs of the erstwhile successor to Ursula Andress and Raquel Welch.

The unusual aspect of the new contender is that she is a Czech. Olinka Berova is her name, and her official biography points out that Olinka means "Little Baby." The document adds: "The true test of a 'stunner' is the look she gets in the street. Olinka stops the whole traffic!"

Well, it's conceivable. But the real Olinka Berova is rather bored with the sex build-up and would like to skip it. That's not likely, not when she is starring as "She" in "The Vengeance of She."

Miss Berova is further evidence of the amazing vigor of the tiny film industry of Communist Czechoslovakia. The nation's films have been applauded by critics and film-festival judges in various parts of the world. This outburst of talent caught the attention of one of America's big agencies, G.A.C., which arranged to represent the Czechs in dealings with producers of the West.

A new star was sought for a sequel to "She." Miss Andress, who had played the title role, was by now too expensive. G.A.C. suggested Miss Berova because of her resemblance to Miss Andress. The producers, Hammer-Seven Arts, were in hearty agreement.

Olinka Berova is 21, miniskirted ("We wear them in Prague, too") and speaks English with an engaging accent. "When did you learn to speak English?" "I haven't!" She is an accidental actress.

"After I finish school, I was 18 and I do not know what to do," she related. "There was this director who saw me and wanted me to appear in his film. I did not want to. But he keeps after me for six months, and finally he says, 'Now you must say yes or no.' I say yes."

The first film was called "We Were Ten." It was followed by "Lemonade Joe," which won second prize at the San Sebastian Film Festival and brought Miss Berova international attention. She has appeared in 10 films, including the German-made "Gold Miners of Arkansas" and the Austrian "Count Bobby from the Wild West."

Miss Berova was born and educated in Prague, where her father works in the Ministry of Heavy Metals. She is earning $20,000 for "The Vengeance of She." A modest sum by Hollywood standards, but substantial for a Czech actress.

Russians Like The USSR

By PETER BUCKLEH
Canadian Press Writer
Moscow (AP) — True or false? Most Soviet citizens would jump at the chance to turn out the Communist party or leave for greener pastures abroad.

True or false? Western technology is on the verge of being smothered by the Soviet Union's whose millions of students work, beaver-like, on study courses that put the West's to shame.

If you answer "true" even "Maybe" to either of those questions, you won't get a passing grade from three Canadians who have just spent nearly a year studying at Moscow University.

Maureen Sager, 30, is a daughter of high school teachers and came here to work on a master's thesis on Crimean author Sergei Tsensky. Norman Segalowitz, 21, plans to continue his studies in psychology at McGill University after looking over Soviet efforts in his field. Samuel Cioran, 27, holds a master's degree in Slavic studies from Indiana University.

They were among seven Canadians who attended Moscow and Kiev Universities in the last school year on scholarships arranged through their universities or student exchange programs.

"The students we saw don't work any harder than ours do at home," Miss Sager said. "The top ones work just as hard as our best pupils do, but the mediocre ones probably work less."

All three felt that the image of the Soviet student has been exaggerated in the West.

Similarly, there are plenty of myths about the relationship between Soviet citizens and their government.

"It's foolish to say that people here are against their system of government," Cioran said. "They see very real possibilities in the system and want to do something with their society—but using their own system."

"There's no real anticommunism. Many of them see a need for improvements, but they support the basic structure."

All three had a rare opportunity to see Soviet life at close quarters.

Foreign businessmen, diplomats and newspapermen are segregated in separate apartment houses for foreigners and have few normal contacts with Russians. The students lived at the university and ate and studied among both Russians and foreigners.

Each of them also spent more than a month traveling to many parts of the Soviet Union, often without the standard guide or other supervision. Each developed some facility in the Russian language.

"The students turned out to be of both kinds, those who were willing to discuss most topics and those who weren't," Segalowitz said.

"Quite a number were sort of constructively looking at their problems and at the future of their society rather than just taking some strict ideological line."

Cioran interjected: "You can talk politics quite easily with them, but on a friendly basis, the way we do at home."

Miss Sager agreed: "At first you might avoid the topic—in the same way that it would be artificial to launch into a political discussion with stranger in Canada—but after a while there's no problem."

Most of the Soviet students needed financial help from their families.

University students draw a salary from the government while they study. But the Canadians discovered that for many the salary is only 30 rubles a month—$33 at the official exchange rate—and five rubles of this goes toward rooming costs. Advanced students get higher stipends, and books for all students are theoretically free.

So to the quality of studies, the three Canadians found the same pluses and minuses. Said Segalowitz: "There's less choice of subject within a given course, less flexibility than we have. And there's more learning by rote."

Teaching quality, too, varied, Miss Sager found her instruction generally good. Her course adviser, for instance, "is so knowledgeable about contemporary Western literature that I'm almost ashamed to discuss it with him."

World News

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. was in an uproar today over the appointment of Lord Hill, head of the rival commercial television authority, to head the state-supported BBC. Some BBC sources predicted the resignation of Sir Hugh Greene, the BBC's director-general.

Hill was appointed Wednesday night to replace the late Lord Normanbrook as governor of the BBC. A fairly easygoing man, he generally let Greene run the network. Hill, whose appointment for five years is effective Sept. 1, has a dynamic temperament and is expected to take direct, active control.

Hill has headed the Independent Television Authority since 1963. ITA, which supervises operation of Britain's commercial television networks and program companies, recently raided the BBC and hired some of its best men.

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda today disclosed a decrease in production of farm equipment without labeling it as such.

The Community party newspaper, in a front-page editorial urging farmers to harvest a bumper crop this year to mark the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, said "thousands upon thousands" of pieces of farm equipment are at work, an example of the party's "unflinching attention" to agricultural equipment.

Pravda said in the first six months of 1967, Soviet factories had turned out 139,000 new tractors, 46,000 trucks and 43,000 grain harvesters. The output for the first half of 1966 was 141,000 tractors, 52,000 trucks and 42,000 harvesters.

May Hold Hearing On Recent Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The subversive-hunting House Committee on Un-American Activities may launch public hearings next week on the Detroit and Newark riots, beating to the punch a proposed Senate-House probe.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., said the committee — best known for its often stormy investigations of alleged domestic communism — expects to meet next week to consider a preliminary staff report on supposed subversive influences in the riots.

Willis said he felt committee-men would agree with him "the information developed to date will justify public hearings." And it was learned the committee is poised to begin public hearings a day after it approves recommendations in the preliminary report.

Wednesday's call by four Negro leaders for an end to rioting drew praise from Senate leaders, plus a bipartisan leadership pledge that the Senate will pass legislation aimed at alleviating disorder-causing slum conditions.

In separate interviews, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen applauded the statement by Martin Luther King Jr., A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins and Whitney M. Young Jr. saying, "No one benefits under mob law. Let's end it now!"

Dirksen said it demonstrated that responsible Negroes "realize what the situation is — that the Negro people are going to be hurt most by this rioting."

Mansfield expressed hope the position taken by the four "will help calm the situation" and prevent a spread in the rioting to other cities — such as predicted by Rep.-elect Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., in a Bimini, Bahamas news conference. Mansfield said he's confident a proposed congressional investigation of civil disorders will produce recommendations that go beyond punitive measures and get into the field of preventive action.

The Democratic leader predicted the Senate will approve a federal rat control program for the cities, a measure hooted and laughed off their calendar last week by House members.

The four Negro leaders mentioned the antirat bill as an example in contending Congress "has exhibited an incredible indifference to the hardships of the ghetto dwellers." They called also for action to combat "joblessness, inadequate housing, poor schooling, insult, humiliation and attack."

Dirksen said the Senate certainly will consider a rat control program.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has scheduled hearings next week on a proposal by Dirksen and Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., only Negro senator, to establish a Senate-House committee to investigate causes of the widespread riots and to recommend legislation. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark is the scheduled first witness.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., said he's suggested to White House aides that President Johnson set up a commission to do this job without waiting for Congress to act.

The Senate Judiciary Committee also has scheduled three days of hearings next week on a House-passed bill that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot. City officials in such riot-ridden cities as Detroit and Cambridge, Md., are among expected witnesses.

Expects Interest Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department's plan to borrow $15 billion in new cash during the six-month period which ends in December is expected to boost interest rates.

It also could give a sense of urgency to President Johnson's proposal for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes which thus far has gotten a cool reception in Congress.

One reason for the surcharge would be to hold down interest rates and help stem inflation.

Some officials are convinced that without increased taxes the nation will suffer serious inflation late this year and early next year.

Treasury officials conceded Wednesday their plans for borrowing new money would represent an "obviously substantial demand" on the money market.

But Frederick L. Deming, undersecretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs, told a news conference the borrowing shouldn't have a tremendous impact on interest rates, which already have increased substantially in recent months.

He said the money market had anticipated an even higher figure.

The assessment of new cash needs, Deming said, was based on estimates of spending and tax receipts.

It indicated a slightly higher level of spending than Johnson proposed in his budget for the fiscal year which began July 1, and slightly lower tax collections as previously reported by Treasury officials.

The new money would supplement regular tax collections and would be designed to make ends meet.

Repudiate the Haters

Too many Americans, both black and white, have lost sight of what the civil rights movement—or Negro revolution, or racial crisis, call it what you will—is all about, if ever they understood it.

Is not its aim, basically and ultimately, to create a society which affords all its members the fullest possible opportunity to work and live and learn and to realize their potential as human beings, insofar as they are able, regardless of what color skin they wear?

Too many Americans, both black and white, seem willing to wash that dream down the drain of history, if ever they believed in it.

In almost the same breath, the U.S. House of Representatives enthusiastically passed a dubious antiriot bill to treat the symptoms of Newark and Detroit and a dozen other cities, but ridiculed a plan to exterminate the rats which outnumber even the Negroes in those cities' teeming slums.

At a "black power" conference in Newark, hundreds of angry Negro activists talked of hate and boycotts and armed rebellion, of withdrawal and actual separation from white America—and in so doing warmed the hearts of fanatics of both colors who would like nothing better than the "final solution" of open civil war between white and black.

It is to be hoped that the vast majority of Americans, both black and white, have too much good sense—and good will—to permit the civil rights movement to degenerate to this level.

Despite setbacks and an agonizingly slow pace, immense progress has been made in the past decade. Negroes—too few of them, but more and more of them—are beginning to attain the education and jobs and living standards that were denied their fathers. Doors of opportunity are beginning to open a little wider each year.

More importantly, men's hearts are changing. The Negro is no longer the "invisible man" in American society. He is gaining an appreciation of his own worth, and by doing it is forcing the white man to appreciate that worth as well.

The extremists, the fanatics, the haters on both sides are wrong. They must be repudiated. Americans both black and white, have come too far, have too much to lose and too much to gain, to allow their hearts to be hardened once more.

Detroit Most Integrated Big City

DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON—On May 14, this writer devoted a column to the city of Detroit and its Mayor, Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, describing him as the No. 1 glamor mayor of America, now facing the fact that his wife had left him, that he had spent too much time traveling abroad, that his city had the biggest crime increase of any in the USA and that he faced a recall.

The Mayor vigorously denied these points and threatened a libel suit over the report that his wife had left him.

As of this week, unfortunately, most of the above facts resulted in tragic headlines across the nation. Mrs. Cavanagh sued for separate maintenance. The police let part of the population get completely out of hand. And the city faced $200,000,000 of damages in the worst street looting in the last half century.

Traveling over Detroit by helicopter, observers looked down on charred walls, lone chimneys, smoking ruins, a scene familiar to American bomber pilots over Germany in World War II. No one would ever have thought it could happen in America.

Yet it did happen, in a city which was completely integrated, where Negroes had lucrative jobs in the auto plants, the only city in the USA sending two Negroes to Congress. In Detroit, Negroes and whites for many years have lived side by side. Most of them owned their own homes. Walter Reuther years ago had welcomed Negroes into the United Auto Workers, making it one of the most completely integrated unions in the nation.

—The Detroit Story—
Yet sections of this model city now lie in smoldering ruins.

Why? There is no one reply to that question; but telling the story of what happened may give the answers.

Trouble began at 5 a.m. Sunday when the police raided the "Blind Pig" in the 12th Street area. There is a 2 a.m. closing time for liquor establishments in Detroit, and the police would have been remiss had they failed to raid "The Blind Pig."

Inside they arrested 70 Negroes, and started to load them into three cars. However they did not get them loaded fast enough, and a crowd of pimps and prostitutes gathered. They began to hoot and jeer, then threw rocks at car windows.

This points to one reason for the Detroit outbreak—namely, the crime increase and police failure to clean it up. Those who started the Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. And Detroit police, understaffed by 500 men, were inadequate.

At first, however, it was not their fault. They were ordered not to resist looters. The head of the Civil Rights Commission, Damon Keith, a Negro who is expected to become a federal judge, phoned the news media asking them not to publicize the riots; to give Negro leaders time to get things under control.

Congressman John Conyers, a Negro, invaded the 12th Street area to urge his fellow Negroes to keep the peace. Conyers was knocked off the top of his car.

Meanwhile the police stood by, still under orders not to shoot. All over town this word spread like wildfire. It was a free license to loot. BLACK AND WHITE CITIZENS ALIKE TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THAT LICENSE. Out of one store ten Negroes carried a safe. A policeman looked the other way.

Through Sunday the looting continued. Food, appliances, furs, clothing, firearms, all were carried away by the armful or the truckload. Drug stores and liquor stores were broken open. Looters got drunk on gin and hopped up on drugs.

Finally, late Sunday evening, the National Guard was ordered in. But there was another delay of three hours. Meanwhile the looting continued. And during the Sunday night it spread to the East Side, and a day later to Pontiac and surrounding cities. Like a prairie fire it spread.

One committee representing 191 grocers told their story. All white, they had been wiped out. They had not been able to get insurance in that part of town. One man told how he had worked seven days a week for 24 years, saved up $28,000. Now all was gone.

There was a total of 714 reported fires. Early Monday morning a woman called the fire department, beseeching them to come to her home. She said it was on fire.

The department responded to her entreaties. The fire engines ran into a deadly crossfire of shooting. It was a trap. The firemen had to abandon two of their trucks.

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin had organized crack emergency police squads to cope with the riots in different sections of Detroit. They remained immobile, not called upon to operate.

The reasons for the razing of some parts of America's fifth biggest city can be summarized as follows:

1. The criminal element in Detroit was unruly even before the riots started. They started the trouble. After that, looting by all elements got out of hand.

2. The Detroit police were ordered not to fire on looters.

3. The Stokely Carmichaels, Floyd McKissicks, Brett Browns and other extremists among Negro leaders had been given so much publicity on television and elsewhere that too many Negroes believed their creed that the Negro had a right to "take."

Long-Distance Medicine

It's a small world . . . and getting smaller. Medical personnel and facilities in New York, Auckland and Honolulu recently joined forces across 10,000 miles to play midwife to a pregnant Maori woman.

In anticipation of possible complications, a sample of the woman's blood, of a type doctors in New Zealand had never seen before, was sent to the New York Blood Center.

The sample arrived in New York at 10 o'clock in the morning. By 4 p.m. the center had searched its library of 10,000 deep-frozen reference bloods and had identified the type—one so rare that only nine other persons in the world are known to have it. A cable was sent to Auckland with names and addresses of potential donors, four of whom lived in Hawaii.

Or consider this experiment carried out between France and the United States a couple of weeks ago.

Electrocardiograms were taken on volunteers in Tours and transmitted by telephone and communications satellite to the United States, where they were relayed to Washington. There, a computer analyzed the heart readings and printed out an interpretation. The data was then transmitted back to Tours via the same route.

Total elapsed time: 30 seconds.

Romance (?) via Computer

Experiments in utilizing the talents of the computer in the boy-meets-girl department have proved one thing, at least:

The machine disposes but it's still the man who proposes. (The girls still let him think so, anyway.)

Students at a high school in Colorado decided to give a computer a try in handling the dating arrangements for a fund-raising dance. Some 200 boys and girls were paired on the basis of their answers to 63 questions, which were fed via punch card into a Western Electric MNW computer.

Results of the "Binary Bounce" were mixed, in more ways than one.

At least one teen-ager reported a case where the computer gave away someone's girl friend. "Mine," he lamented.

Another boy found himself perfectly matched with a girl who shared his every interest. The only trouble was, she excelled him in all of them. End of romance.

After the June Wedding Comes the July Marriage

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Saint Paul is not regarded as a big marriage counselor. He offered no advice concerning the seating arrangement at the rehearsal dinner. Bride Magazine does not list him on its advisory council. Amy Vanderbilt gives all the directions for engraved invitations and ushers' boutonnieres without fear of his contradictions. Bakers, dressmakers, florists, photographers and limousines operate quite smoothly without him.

The American wedding does not need St. Paul. Just get me to the church on time.

But a June wedding does not guarantee a July marriage. A Bermuda honeymoon, a split-level suburb and a place setting for 12 have never been insurance for a lasting relationship. Rather soon the lovely gown becomes simply a storage problem, the dashing cutaway another bill to be paid. And the wedding pictures have moved from the mantle to the attic.

Thankfully, St. Paul has a word for the July marriage. "And the two shall become one. This is a great mystery." It is that mystery, that baffling experience of conflict and forgiveness, of injury and healing. It is the painful process of shattering childish ways and forming adult maturity. As husband and wife. As male and female. As father and mother. And the mystery shapes us, that we grow together in ways unknown to the marriage manual, the bridal counselor or the catering service.

If you want to write an exciting history book, forget the brides and gather up the stories about the power of older women. With some study and research you will discover how much of this beat-up old world they have nursed, bandaged, sheltered, fed and entertained. Admittedly, the glory, the ballads and the bouquets have been thrown to Bathsheba, the Helens of Troy, the Cleopatras, the Elke Sommers and the latest miniskirt. Pure scenery.

The real action is not with the swingers or the starlets or at the discotheques. It belongs to the older women who keep the world turning, the bills paid and the poets fed.

A wonderful example of this is delightfully seen in "The Shameless Old Lady." Tracing the last year of a quiet grandmother, the film shows her good works, firm discipline, abundant love and generous pocketbook. Evil is restrained, youth supported and pomposity deflated.

I think I saw her in Grand Central Station the other morning. In a bruising crash, a young man passed out cold on the stone floor. Hardly had he banged the pavement when this elderly figure crouched over him, pillowing his head on her purse. Her handkerchief patted his brow and her arm signaled a policeman. She held the crowd back as they lifted him into a wheel chair.

What was she doing but looking after somebody's boy who had bombed out. They're everywhere, these older women. They hold the world together. I see them in hospital corridors, bus stations and outside prison camps. St. Luke tells us that women looked after Jesus when all the disciples had left. You don't find them in television series, slick magazines or in the big plays. The reason is that they are out there in the real world where it counts.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Obstruction in Pores Cause of Prickly Heat

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When your perspiration goes into your skin instead of onto it, you are in for a siege of prickly heat—a condition that goes under such names as miliaria, sudamina and heat rash. It is always worse when the weather is hot and humid. It also has a fondness for furnace stokers and foundry workers.

The reddened burning or itching spots never occur on the face, scalp, palms or soles but may be found on any other part, especially the hairless surface of the forearms, the neck, the area behind the knees and the trunk. The underlying cause is an obstruction in the sweat pores. When the external heat causes an increase in sweat production, something has got to give. A slight rupture in the sweat duct allows the sweat to escape into the superficial layer of the skin where it forms a small focus of irritation.

The problem, therefore, is to keep the pores open. The first requirement is to avoid the use of fat solvents, strong soaps and greasy ointments on the skin. For bathing you should use sparingly a soap that contains hexachlorophene provided it doesn't dry or ir-itate your skin. Spending 8 to 10 continuous hours in an air-conditioned room is usually enough to bring about a marked relief from the burning and itching but it may take 10 to 14 days for the rash to disappear after the skin is no longer called on to produce excessive perspiration.

When air conditioning isn't available, the use of electric fans, taking a cool shower and wearing a minimum of clothing will go far toward relieving the rash. Bath powders, if used, must be applied sparingly because of their tendency to cake and further block the pores.

Q—In a recent column you stated that pulsations in the neck indicated serious ailments. I always thought that a person's pulse could be taken by feeling the throbbing on the side of the neck near the front of the throat.

A—It is true that pulsations can be felt in everyone by placing a finger over the carotid artery in the neck. The previous question and answer dealt with neck pulsations that could be plainly seen in a person who was relaxed and sitting still.

No one likes to go down at a slam contract but what players really hate is to get to that never-never land between game and slam and then go down one trick. There is no extra bonus for bidding and making five in a major or four or five no-trump.

North's bidding is an excellent example of how you can hang your partner for having a bad hand. South was never given a chance to play at four hearts.

Fortunately for North, South was able to work out a play to make the five-heart contract.

His problem was to work out ways to get back to his own hand. He started his campaign by leading a low club from dummy at trick two. West's king took his queen. At this point West could have upset South's apple cart in several ways but he decided to lead a second spade. South ruffed with dummy's six and led a club to his jack.

Then he proceeded to ruff his last spade with the ace of hearts, lead dummy's jack of hearts and overtake with his queen after East ducked.

The ten of hearts continuation took care of East's king. East led the queen of diamonds in the hope that South would try to cash dummy's ace of clubs but South was equal to the occasion. He led dummy's last low club, ruffed, played out his trumps and made the last two tricks with dummy's ace of diamonds and ace of clubs.

How bad was North's bidding? Not very bad. He really held a terrific hand and South could have had more than he did.

LBJ Stands In Midst of Storm

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — These have been a painful couple of years to President Johnson. The sun was shining, or he thought so. Then the storm broke and he was standing in the midst of thunder and lightning.

It was just a little over two years ago — in June 1965 — that he told the graduating class of Howard University here: "Our earth is the home of revolution."

In this speech, acknowledging the injustice inflicted on the American Negro for centuries, Johnson said: "Nothing is more freighted with meaning for our own destiny than the revolution of the American Negro."

He did not mean revolution by violence in this country but by progress. He wasn't thinking of violence then.

But this week the loudmouthed leader of a Negro organization, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, H. Rap Brown said: "We stand on the eve of a black revolution."

Brown had been charged with inciting a riot in Cambridge, Md., where Negroes burned down the center of the Negro section while riots devastated Detroit and swept other cities from coast to coast.

A month after his Howard University talk Johnson pledged himself to a major effort to solve the problems confronting Negroes. "I am going to provide all the leadership I can," he said.

But less than a month after that Negro rioters saturated the Los Angeles section of Watts with killings, burning and looting. This shocked the nation and Johnson, too.

He quickly made another speech, deploring violence, denouncing the Watts upheaval, declaring riots must be exposed and dealt with in the same way as Klansmen in sheets and masks.

He tried to find words to describe rioters, white or Negro, but, as it turned out he was a lot more restrained than he was going to be later.

He said at that time: "A rioter with a Molotov cocktail in his hands is not fighting for civil rights any more than a klansman with a sheet on his back and a mask on his face."

"They are both more or less what the law declared them: lawbreakers."

He sounded a little mournful and very frustrated as he spoke on the heels of the Watts riot and looked back on his years in Congress and the presidency.

"During the past decade," he said, "More of my energy has been spent on protecting and preserving and writing into law, through the legislative halls, the rights of all Americans than I have spent on any single subject or any half-dozen subjects."

And there is no doubt he has done more, and worked harder, on civil rights than any President in history. But all this wasn't enough to stop the disaster shaping up, for in the past two weeks the United States has had the most violent, riotous condition ever.

And Thursday night, a little rougher than in 1965, Johnson addressed the nation again, making a distinction between the rioters and the rest of the Negro community.

"Let there be no mistake about it," he said, "the looting, arson, plunder and pillage which have occurred are not part of the civil rights protest. Crime must be dealt with forcefully, swiftly — under law."

"The criminals who committed these acts of violence against the people deserve to be punished. Explanations may be offered but nothing can excuse what they have done."

He called for stern police action, for more legislation to ease the poverty which breeds crime, for tolerance by whites instead of anti-Negro attitudes which might result from the riots, and he set up a commission to study the riots and their causes and to make recommendations for preventing or controlling them.

A - No, inheritances are not taxable income.

Q - I paid up the mortgage on my home early and was charged a pre-payment penalty. Is that deductible?

A - Yes it is deductible as interest if you itemize deductions.

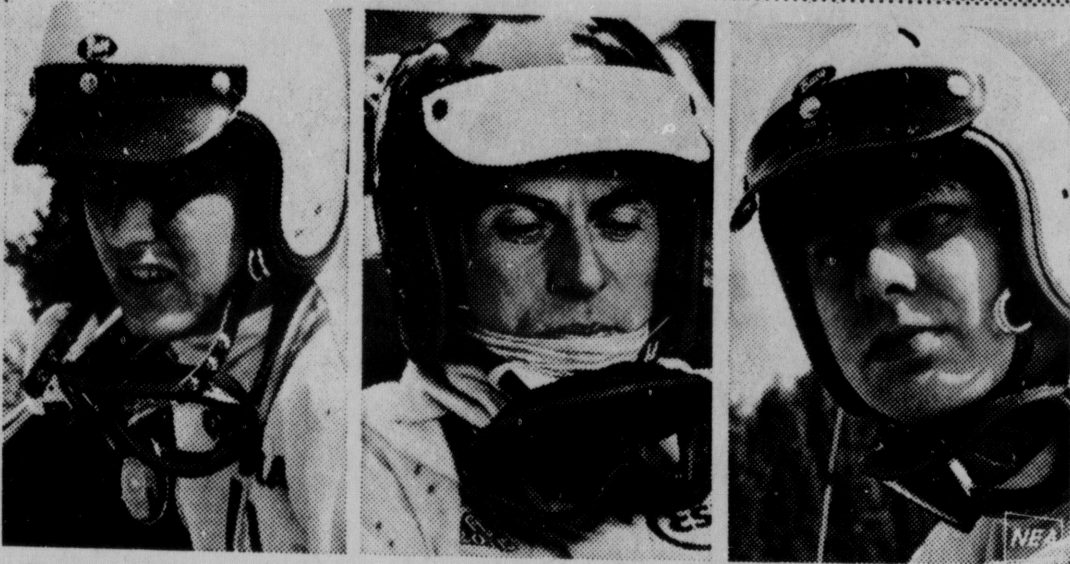

Q - My husband and I have separated. Who is entitled to claim the children as dependents?

A - The children may be claimed as dependents by the person who provides more than half their support during the taxable year.

BERRY'S WORLD

EVEN IF YOU DON'T RACE grand prix cars, like the two gents flanking champion driver Jimmy Clark, a safety helmet is still a wise investment. Helmet-wearing tyros are Wheeling It co-authors, Dave Burgin (left) and Bob Cochran.

It's 'Silly' to Wear a Helmet?

By BOB COCHRAN and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Woe betide the safety official (government or otherwise) who advises motorists to clamp on a safety helmet at the same time they buckle up their seat belts.

It's tough enough to get Joe Driver to buckle up for safety even though it has been proved and proved again that thousands of drivers have been caught dead sitting on their seat belts.

Hard hats can help save lives, too, but gung-ho I'm-the-best-driver-on-the-road types rules-of-thumb in mind when helmet-shopping:

• Shell. The shell must prevent penetration, distribute the impact load over a large area of the head, prevent abrasion while sliding over rough surfaces. It should be made of a hard, rigid, smooth, durable material. The buyer should not be able to indent the shell with his hands.

• Liner. The function of the liner is to distribute the force and absorb the energy of impact. It should be made of a firm, compressible material at least a half-inch thick. The liner should cover all of the inner area of the shell.

• Retention System. The helmet must stay on the head if it is to provide protection. A crude test of the retention system is to snap the helmet on and try to pull it off. The chin supports and strap should be nylon or similar material which is not subject to deterioration.

• Comfort. Since helmets are often worn for long periods in all types of weather, it is important that they be comfortable to avoid the temptation of removing them. Weight, ventilation and fit are some of the factors which affect comfort.

There are more than two million motorcyclists registered today. The National Safety Council estimates that some 60 per cent of them do not wear safety helmets. This majority death wish is bound to change, however, by regulation.

The National Traffic Safety Act of 1966 stipulates that any state which does not have mandatory helmet laws by January 1968 will forfeit 10 per cent of its federal highway fund.

SPINOFFS: About half the nation's motorists are in danger of losing their cool while breezing down the highway this summer. Half of all cars checked by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. are found to have cracked, glazed or frayed fan belts. And when the belt breaks, your water pump and fan fails and the engine goes clunk. Check that belt every couple of months. . . . Looks like another ho-hum automotive year in 1968. There aren't any radical styling departures. But you'll be seeing a lot of fastbacks which recall the late '40s and early '50s when Detroit was cranking out those sloped-deck cars. The word "fastback" was invented then.

would rather mash their foreheads on splintered windshields than "look silly" in a helmet.

Well, we're not about to preach to run-of-the-mill hardheads. But we will say that any motorcycle buff who kick-starts his bike without first putting his safety helmet on is just plain stupid. In some states—not yet enough—helmets are mandatory.

And anybody thinking about racing (sports cars, hot rods, etc.) should know he won't be allowed to start his engine helmetless, thanks to the rigid safety rules of national sanctioning bodies.

Assuming, then, that you agree about the need for a helmet, you should also realize that just any kind won't do.

Your helmet had better be approved by the Snell Memorial Foundation, the United States of America Standards Institute (formerly the American Standards Association) or the British Standards Institute. If it isn't, chances are it's not very good.

We discussed helmet design and testing with one of the leading U.S. manufacturers, Buco Products, a division of the American Safety Equipment Corp. Buco has been involved with protective headgear since 1957 when helmets, more often than not, were just supposed to keep the hair from getting dirty.

It's possible, Buco says, for the neophyte to choose a hard hat which he thinks is a safe helmet. Instead, he ought to keep these

Two Years After 'The Burning'

David Miller Continues 'Mercy Work'

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The wino wiped his hands on filthy pants, picked up a piece of bread and a spoon and began to slurp David Miller's soup.

"He done what?" the wino asked, a shaking hand stuffing bread into his mouth.

Again it was explained that his host, David J. Miller, 24, had burned his draft card two years ago, was on parole and faces perhaps 2½ years in prison.

"Why he do that?" the wino asked. He went back to his soup, nearly gone now. "What he want to do is his business. Make no matter to me."

David Miller believes it does matter.

"What we are doing in this home," Miller said, looking around his disheveled office, "is simply personal work of mercy. It is the extension of family hospitality, only the men who come here haven't known it for years. We can show them that it still exists."

Miller is building a better world, "applying" Christian principles as they were meant to be applied. There is, he says, "no violence, no argument, no coercion . . . just a good example, hopefully."

The connection between his pacifism and his present activities—running the Catholic Workers Home here—is explained: "The works of war are not compatible with the works of mercy."

Miller made national news two years ago when he became the first to publicly burn (in front of a New York City induction station) his draft card after Congress passed the law against it.

Convicted in federal court, he received a suspended three-year sentence and two-year parole. But then, last April, he went to jail for refusing to obtain and carry a new card.

That stretch lasted only two weeks because another federal court in Boston reversed a conviction in a similar case. Now the Supreme Court is deciding whether to review it and there Miller's fate hangs.

Meanwhile, David Miller, Syracuse, N.Y., college graduate with a degree in sociology, lives with his British-born wife Catherine and infant daughter in, as he puts it, "voluntary poverty."

The Catholic Workers Home is not supported by the church. Money—about $500 a month—comes from about 150 contributors. All of it goes for rent and food for the Millers, soup and bread once a day for neighborhood bums and alcoholics.

Of the 35 or so broken men who troop in each day, only a few know Miller's name. And he does not ask theirs. None seems to know about his card-burning conviction and most wouldn't care if they did. "I just say hello and goodbye," one bum said.

Miller knows that his daily guests go right back to the street to solicit quarters to buy more wine. Rehabilitation doesn't really matter. What matters, he says, is that a broken man with a sick body has a meal a day.

"I am amazed sometimes at the amount of thinking I've done since I was 18," Miller said, "particularly the thinking I've had to do since I burned my draft card."

"Yes, I would do it again. The thing uppermost is that I not serve in the Army, nor take part in anything that even remotely acknowledges justification for conscription, for violence, for war. I have learned a great deal since the burning. I am more confident."

"Now I know that I was right. I don't hate this country. I don't advise others to burn their cards, if that's not what they want to do. I just know that I can't be violent and I did what I had to do."

But Miller says he has made some mistakes since he raised that cigarette lighter. He is concerned, uppermost, that he compromised his views when he agreed to let an American Civil Liberties Union lawyer handle his case.

"It is not quite compatible to look for legal loopholes now when I knew what I did was against the law, however unconstitutional or wrong that law (draft-card burning) may be. I should perhaps 'represent' myself and simply tell the courts the truth as I see it."

Beyond separation from his wife and child, Miller seems to worry little about going to prison, if the Supreme Court doesn't rule in his favor.

"I can do things in prison," he said. "The work of mercy is most assuredly needed there. Here, I see alcoholics and criminals who have been in jails. I've got an idea of what to expect."

Warsaw Merchants, Jeff City Win Games

Hectic Evening At Park

By D. Kelly Scruton
Sports Editor

The Warsaw Merchants squeezed out a victory in one of the most hectic evenings of baseball the tournament has had, nearly three hours and 20 minutes, before the run was squeezed across the home plate in the bottom of the ninth inning. Warsaw defeated the McBain Maulers 10-9 in the nightcap affair. In the opener of the night session, Thursday, the former State Champions, Jefferson City Red Birds beat the Kirksville Merchants 5 to 1.

Friday night the first round sessions end with the Nixa Colts playing the Lawson Merchants in the 6:30 tilt followed at 8 p.m. by Art Gaines Baseball School of Hunnewell meeting the Sutherland Lumber Co.

Saturday night the second rounds begin in the winner bracket and loser bracket. Lowry City playing the Columbia Staggs at 6:30 in the loser bracket and the Mexico Sportsmen meeting the Anderson Merchants at 8:00 p.m. in the winner bracket.

Sunday four games will be played starting at 1:30 p.m. with Nevada meeting the Sedalia Lions in the losers bracket; 3 p.m. Jefferson City Pepsi-Bears against Butler Comets in the winner bracket; 6:30 p.m. Kirksville and McBain meet in the loser bracket; and at 8 p.m. Jefferson City Red Birds vs the Warsaw Merchants.

The Red Birds in the first game Thursday jumped to a first inning lead and kept the lead well in hand. The first inning opened with John Dunham singling through second went to second as Charley Marsh grounded out to second to first. Leo Christopher tripled to deep center scoring Dunham. Butch Waggoner fanned.

Gene Vlahovich accounted for the Kirksville lone run when he was given a free trip to first. George Hiatt struck out. Phil Calhoun singled scoring Vlahovich. Bill Lawrence safe on a fielders choice Ken Quest to second base to tag out Calhoun. Ron Hays grounded out to pitcher Quest. One Run one hit no errors.

The Birds added scores in the third, fourth and fifth innings. In the third Christopher walked, and out on a fielders choice when Waggoner hit to the pitcher. Maasen walked advancing Waggoner. Dick grounded to the pitcher and Waggoner and Maasen moved up a base. Bill Wilson walked filling the bases. A single by Louie Bunch scored Waggoner. Ken Quest grounded out to the second baseman. One run one hit no errors.

The fourth saw Dunham walk. Marsh walked. A balk called on pitcher Larry Luett moved Dunham and Marsh up a base. Christopher hit a sacrifice fly to center scoring Dunham. Waggoner grounded out to the shortstop, Maasen walked. Dick Scott popped to center field. One run no hits no errors.

The final score coming in the fifth was made when Bill Wilson was safe on a third baseman error. Went to second on a balk. Bunch walked. On another balk by Luett both runners advanced. On a fly to centerfield Wilson scored. Dunham was thrown out by Luett to second base who covered first; Marsh fled out to leftfield. One run no hits no errors.

Second Game

The game between McBain Maulers and the Warsaw Merchants was hectic after the first inning with one or the other team scoring to move the lead back and forth or to tie it.

Warsaw moved out front in the second inning with three scores; the Maulers came back in the top of the third to take the lead with four runs; then Warsaw moved back in the lead scoring three runs for a 6-2 lead. McBain picked up three in the top of the fifth to lead 7-6, but Warsaw tied it up in the bottom half. In the sixth McBain pushed across two more for a 9-7 edge only to get it tied up in the bottom of the seventh by Warsaw who pushed two across. That was it for the Maulers they being unable to score in the last three innings.

In the ninth, Warsaw squeezed across the winning run. Bob Lange walked. Butch Ford sacrificed pitcher second who covered first Lange holding up at second base. On a wild pitch Lange moved to third. The next two batters, Dwight Owens and Marshall Brvan were purposely walked.

That Smarts!

IT WAS disconcerting, but eight-year-old Don Campbell, right, did a little damage himself as he was taking a punch from Larry Pucher, 6, center. They were taking part in the boxing program at Clark Recreation, Cleveland, Ohio, and instructor Sid Terris, left, was keeping an alert eye on them to see that nothing got out of hand. (UPI)

Houston's Duo May Expand

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston's dynamic duo, about the only thing that has kept the Astros from falling through the bottom of the National League this season, is showing signs of becoming a threesome.

Joe Morgan, now genuinely out of the hitting slump that plagued him through the early part of the season, won a game for the Astros with a run-scoring single in the bottom of the ninth for the second straight time as Houston trimmed Pittsburgh 5-4 Thursday night.

"Look at my roomie," Jim Wynn said when it was over, "taking all the glory."

"You don't want me in the act?" answered Morgan. "You and Rusty Staub have been taking all the glory all year. It's about time you leave a little room for me."

Staub, leading the league in hitting at .358—he went three-for-four Thursday—and Wynn, tops in runs batted in with 76, have been doing most of Houston's heavy hitting till Morgan's renaissance. But despite their best efforts the club is mired in the cellar, 18 games off the pace.

In other National League games, Atlanta beat Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia bounced San Francisco 8-3 and Los Angeles edged New York 7-6 in 11 innings.

In the American League, Boston beat California 6-5 in 10 innings, New York too Minnesota 6-2, Detroit blanked Baltimore 4-0 and Washington downed Kansas City 6-4. Cleveland and Washington were rained out.

Morgan, batting as low as .063 at one point in the early going, is now pounding the ball at a .295 clip and is riding an 11-game hitting streak.

Wednesday against Philadelphia, he singled in the winning run in the ninth and Thursday, after Ron Davis tied the game with a run-scoring single, Morgan came up with the winner.

The Braves got all their runs in the first inning, with Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou hitting homes that drove Sammy Ellis from the mound before he could get anybody out. Ken Johnson, 60-4, was the winner.

Billy Cowan and Bobby Wine hit homers in Philadelphia's five-run third inning and Richie Allen got his third homer in as many days in the first. John Booser went the distance to win his third game.

Tigers Have Wild Hope

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

With apologies to the old Boston Braves, the Detroit Tigers may be basing their hopes for the American League pennant on soccer, rain and Denny McLain.

The Braves, who won the 1948 National League pennant with two outstanding pitchers,

Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain, charged into the World Series with the battle cry: "Spahn and Sain and pray for rain."

The Tigers, with a strange combination of circumstances behind them, were allowed to pitch their ace, McLain, somewhat out of rotation Thursday night and he responded with a seven-hit, 4-0 victory over Baltimore, lifting the Tigers back into third place in the American League.

Washington took Kansas City 6-3 while Cleveland at league leading Chicago were rained out in the other Thursday night games. Boston edged California 6-5 in 10 innings and New York whipped Minnesota 6-2 in afternoon action.

In the National League, Atlanta beat Cincinnati 4-1, Houston edged Pittsburgh 5-4 and Los Angeles beat New York 7-6 in 11 innings, in night games. Philadelphia crushed San Francisco 8-3 in the only day game. Chicago and St. Louis were not scheduled.

The Tigers, forced out of Detroit because of race riots, had four days off in Baltimore because of a combination of rain, and a stadium commitment to a soccer game.

McLain, a 23-year-old right-hander, took advantage of the rest, struck out four, walked none and kept the Orioles' hits well spread in gaining his 12th victory of the season.

It was Detroit's fifth victory in six games and lifted them into third place, 3 1/2 games back of the leading White Sox. Baltimore's loss was its sixth in seven and sent the Orioles reeling into eighth place, one percentage point back of Cleveland.

Child's Ironing Board Saves Time for Sewer

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—When sewing clothes for my 5-year-old daughter, I like to use her small ironing board for pressing seams and hems instead of the big board. My space is limited and since pressing is so important to the looks of a finished garment her dresses just fit over the length of the small board. All I have to do is lean over from the sewing machine and this eliminates constant jumping up and down to press on the large board. This is a real timesaver for me.—MRS. M. W. T.

DEAR POLLY—I have a handy tip for those who are planning vacation trips. To make sturdy luggage tags cut the name and address part off of plastic credit cards which have expired. Punch a hole in the end and attach to a suitcase with a key chain.—D. N. K.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have a 12x15 oval braided rug with only one end in good shape. I would like to cut it in half and want to know how to bind the edges.—MRS. P. E. D.

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell the reader who is knitting sequin shells that I have made four of them and have found that the quickest way is to keep about an inch of sequins near the knitting needle and bend them back with the thumb, as when you fan a deck of cards. My first one took three months to make but the second two only two months using this system.—HELEN

DEAR POLLY—When traveling with little ones I always take along disposable bibs. There are paper place mats with a slit cut in one end and a large hole for the child's neck. I also carry large safety pins in my purse for fastening. After cutting these out I put them back in the original wrapper and keep under the front seat of the car where they are always handy when we visit friends or stop at a restaurant. On a trip, they are the greatest.—MRS. B. H. M.

DEAR POLLY—To eliminate that annoying problem of where to put the bathtub shower mat, for those bath takers who find it uncomfortable to sit on and for the housewife who does not want it in the tub to collect dirt and scum from bath water, attach a key chain through one of the holes in the mat. Hang the mat, by the chain, around the shower nozzle or faucet. The key chain holds the mat securely and conveniently yet is small enough not to interfere with the suction when the mat is used for showers.—MRS. K. R. G.

The Mature Parent

Only Self-Centered Parent Fear's Child's Confidant

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

BECAUSE of 11-year-old Joan, a family feud is developing, says her Grandma. When Joan is crossed at home, she's taken to rushing off to her Aunt Madge, the new wife of her mother's brother. Her mother is angry over the situation and has forbidden her sister-in-law to ever harbor the child in her house again. Writes Joan's Grandma, "Things have been said which may never be forgotten. . . ."

Why are parents in this spot always so anxious to deprive the child of his adult confidante?

Usually, we have grand-sounding reasons for our wish to destroy such friendships. Usually, the real one is our fear that Joan and Aunt Madge are saying critical things about us. The knowledge that our youngster may be exposing our faults to another person is intolerable.

OFTEN, it is this very intolerance of criticism that has driven Joan to take her feelings toward us to someone outside the home.

No parent can afford the wish to appear perfect to his children. We are not perfect; and when we undertake to imagine we are, we require constant admiration to keep us inflated. We can think of nothing but our need to appear a faultless person.

So experiencing a situation like this, we'd be totally self-centered. We'd register only the threat of criticism; our need to destroy it. To its value to Joan, we'd be absolutely blind.

Yet the fact is that it's not only fortunate Joan has Aunt Madge to run to when she loses touch with her mother; it is also touching.

FOR in seeking the woman who's so closely related to her mother, Joan is seeking her mother, nobody else. To know this is true, however, our minds must be clear, not seething with terror of other people's disapproval.

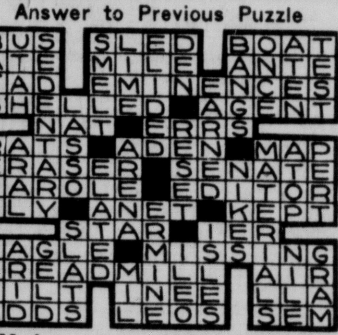

Only self-centered parents feel outrage when a child makes a confidante of another adult. If the confidante is a family friend or relative, the wise mother is especially relieved. In Aunt Madge, she sees a substitute for herself.

Instead of hating Joan's confidante for the service she's rendering, she is grateful to it as the right solution to the moment's separation. She thinks, "How good it is that this child I love has her aunt to let off the steam to!"

MODERN "GOOD GUY"—First came the contingent of bad guys, looking surly and shooting up a western town. Moments later the "good guys" give chase—in a golf cart? The cast and crew of TV's "The Wild, Wild West" had some laughs when star Bob Conrad decided to modernize and pursue the desperadoes in the cart he normally uses to travel around the spacious outdoor set in Hollywood (UPI)

Film Show Entirely In India

EDITOR'S NOTE—Most television series with foreign backgrounds are shot on the back lots of Hollywood studios. In recent seasons there has emerged an interest in authentic backgrounds—a lot of "I WSpys" is filmed on location, for instance—but NBC's forthcoming "Maya" series, aimed at the youthful television audience, is trail blazing by shooting the programs entirely in India. The authors are two-thirds of the team of brothers who are producing the adventure series starring two teen-age boys and an elephant.

BOMBAY, India, (AP) — We are filming "Maya" in India for the simplest possible reason: you couldn't duplicate this place on any motion picture set or in any other locale in the world. You couldn't begin to match the vast variety of natural splendor, manmade magnificence or historical significance of this land.

For example, in our first episode, several scenes take place in and outside of a maharaja's palace. We were able to shoot those scenes, both interior and exterior, at a real maharaja's estate in Bombay.

Ours is the first American television series to be filmed entirely on location in India. We're taking our time—two weeks for each episode—and we're trying to do it right.

"Maya" is the story of teen-age boys and an elephant—and their trek across the vast subcontinent.

The American boy is in India looking for his father, a hunter believed killed by the tigers that were his prey. He falls in with the Indian boy Raji, an orphan, and his companions, the elephants.

To give an example of how the real India shines through: In a scene from the opening episode, the American boy is running through the streets of Bombay with the police hot in pursuit. We shot this in the streets of Bombay, with its open air markets, its magnificent seaport, its women washing colorful saris on the banks of a river and its three million people—the world's most diversified population—as potential extras.

A Ladder Saves Two Lives

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Emma Jean Henry's first attempt at climbing a ladder saved two lives.

The lives were those of two of her sons, who were trapped in the attic of their home Thursday after lightning set it on fire.

Both boys, Kevin Henry, 11, and Donald, 6, were taken to a hospital, where they are said to be in satisfactory condition. They have second and third-degree burns.

Mrs. Henry said the ladder didn't belong to her. A friend left it there a few months ago. "There was no real use for it, but it sure came in handy this morning," Mrs. Henry said.

She remembered the ladder when flames broke out in the attic. Her four other sons and two daughters dashed to safety, but the other two boys said they couldn't get through the flames on the stairway.

Mrs. Henry grabbed the ladder and propped it against a second story window.

"When I got up there, the 11-year-old son was pushing the six-year-old towards me. I carried him down a couple of rungs, then dropped him and went back for the 11-year-old."

A sister, Jackie, 17, said: "If we hadn't gotten that ladder, I don't know if we could have gotten them out at all."

What Happened?

Known For Good Race Relations

By AUSTIN SCOTT
DETROIT (AP) — Black fists pounded the steering wheel in anger as the Negro driver sped along the new Chrysler Freeway less than a mile from downtown Detroit.

Turning east, the driver swore at the towers of new middle-income housing projects rising from acres of grassland created by urban renewal.

"Space!" he shouted. "Look at all this space!" this used to be Hastings Street, a teeming, impacted Negro area. Hundreds of thousands of Negroes lived here. Where did they go, man? Where did all these people go?"

The cleared land so galling to the man who once lived nearby had held acres of tumbledown single family homes.

As buildings were condemned over a dozen years, large numbers of families streamed into the small apartment and rooming houses of 12th Street, helping it to become the most heavily populated, solidly Negro neighborhood in this integrated city of 1.7 million.

A week ago it was the Negro community's sin strip—an area of 22 bars and 15 liquor stores, pawn shops and barbecue joints, a place where pimps showed off their new Cadillacs and prostitutes went off with white "Johns" for a $10 bill.

Today it is a 17-block ruin of jagged, fire-scarred walls, ceilings collapsed into basements, broken water pipes dripping incessantly onto pretzeled remnants of steel beams.

From this initial trouble area, violence leaped helter-skelter across 20 per cent of the nation's fifth-largest city. Thirty-eight died, 2,000 were wounded and nearly 3,500 were arrested in what was to become the nation's costliest riot. Property and long-term business damage soared to an estimated $6 billion.

From all of Detroit, a city that prided itself on advanced race relations, came the question asked over and over again: Why here?

The Motor City seemed to have a good reason for asking. Its 33 per cent Negro population is generally scattered over the entire city. Poor Negroes live next to poor whites in the slums, while middle class teachers, clerks and city employees live in a pepper-salt pattern in modest frame homes throughout the tree-lined streets of the mid-Northwest Side.

Endurance Record Is Broken

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — four young astronauts, aloft for four days on a simulated journey to the moon, Thursday passed the endurance record said to be held by several Missouri youths.

The four launched their simulated flight—called Project Moon Beam—at noon Sunday in the rafters of a garage at the Guilford Smith home in Garden City.

The crew members are Gary Smith and Bill Alsop, both 15, and Quinton Hope and Rip Kessler, both 12.

Their flight in the mock Apollo space craft is scheduled to end at 8:30 tonight.

The craft is 10 feet long, 6 feet wide and 3 feet high in the center.

Near the city limits, it is impossible to say whether the doctor, lawyer or other professional who owns one of the old but beautifully maintained 15 room homes, well back from the streets amid tall oaks and poplars, will be Negro or white.

"They've got to live with us," said a Negro man. "That's why you didn't see Negroes out to 'get Whitey.' They see him every day."

Detroit has built a unique job pattern around the auto industry, which makes short-term work available for even unskilled Negroes. Federal statistics show they will earn $400 to $600 more a year than Negroes on similar jobs anywhere in the country.

A record number own their own homes. Negroes enjoy heavy participation in government civil service. Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Police Commissioner Ray Girardin have won nationwide praise for quick use of federal urban aid funds, and for an open-door policy toward Negro views and complaints.

There are Negro Congressmen John Conyers and Charles C. Diggs Jr., Negroes on the board of education and one Negro city councilman.

What went wrong?

"This was a good chance to get a lot of animosity out of your system," said Tindall. "I don't like the way that s.o.b. down at the corner is treating me, if I get the chance I'm going to throw a brick through his window."

Conyers reported a "carnival atmosphere—a complete breakdown of the normal restraints that contain citizens in lawful society." He also believes "the hoodlum element" played a large part.

The number of looters was increased through Monday by failure of police to apprehend suspects, giving the impression there would be no punishment.

At some locations, looting went on for hours by both Negroes and whites, more people showing up every minute, without a police officer in sight. At other times, officers who arrived chased everyone out of the store without arresting any of them.

Commissioner Girardin noted a national climate of Negro violence, a group of youths pent up with frustration, and the mob psychology that made individuals in crowd of looters do things they would not do by themselves.

Looting ended when there was nothing left to take from the stripped stores. Police and community leaders say they cannot explain the sniping or the fire bombing, except that they were probably done by very small groups of people.

POLICE OFFICERS HOLD weapons found in an apartment in Detroit where a sniper was shooting. When police burst into the apartment, Patrolman Roger Poike was shot in the abdomen. His fellow officers blasted the apartment with a torrent of gunfire. The sniper was found dead three stories below and Poike was listed in serious condition at the hospital. The submachinegun was found under a sofa. (UPI)

Entourage Commander Is Wounded

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In 1963 Army Lt. Samuel R. Bird commanded the eight-man military entourage that ushered President John F. Kennedy's casket to Arlington National Cemetery.

Today, Bird, now a captain, must be carried or wheeled wherever he goes through the long corridors of Kennedy Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Bird, of Wichita, Kan., is a casualty of the war in Vietnam. An enemy sniper's bullet last Jan. 27 left him with crippling brain damage, and he is unable to use his legs.

Only a quick evacuation by helicopter saved his life, and there still is doubt of a complete recovery.

"With all the drive Sam's got, he'll make it," said Richard E. Bird, a retired Kansas lumberman and father of the wounded soldier.

The elder Bird arrived in Memphis earlier this week, right after his son who was transferred from the military hospital at San Antonio, Tex.

"I had him brought here because this is known as the best rehabilitation center in the country," Bird said.

The United Nations sponsors teams in polo, cricket, golf, table tennis, bridge and karate.
